Fairfield County Hunt Club June Benefit Horse Show & History

The Fairfield County Hunt Club June Benefit Horse Show has a long history of national prestige. It is rated a “Premiere” show by the United States Hunter Jumper Association (USHJA) and has also been elected the “Members’ Choice” Horse Show for Zone 1 for the last three years. The most prestigious accolade, however, comes from the United States Equestrian Federation (USEF), which designated the June Benefit Horse Show as a Heritage Competition—the highest honor that can be bestowed on a horse show. This distinction is reserved for horse shows that are dedicated not only to technical excellence, but also to philanthropy and community involvement. Only 16 horse shows in the entire nation have received this honor.

Over the years, the horse show has supported many worthy national and local charities. Some past charities include: CT Audubon Charities, Pegasus Therapeutic Riding, Save the Children, ASPCA, Brain Trauma Foundation, and Bridgeport Hospital Foundation. The June Benefit Horse Show has a long-standing relationship with the EQUUS Foundation, which will once again be this year’s beneficiary.

The horse show attracts international, national and local riders, who compete over the course of 5 days. Many of the over 3,000 participants hail from affluent areas, such as Fairfield and Westchester counties and metropolitan New York, thereby creating optimal marketing exposure.

Rider Demographics

Riding has always played a significant part in American society and economics. It is a family-oriented sport that demands and instills discipline, confidence and commitment. Riding is one of the few sports that reaches out to and crosses all target groups (age, gender, income). Horses have a very broad and deep national appeal, as evidenced by the following statistics provided by a survey by the American Horse Council:

27 million

The number of people over the age of 12 in the United States who ride a horse at least once every year

14.6 million

The number of people over the age of 12 in the United States who ride a horse on a regular basis

9.2 million

The number of horses owned in the United States

88 million

Total attendance at sanctioned horse-related events

Type of Competition

As with all horse shows at Fairfield County Hunt Club, three types of disciplines are offered: Jumpers, Hunters, and Equitation. Unlike any other sport, men and women (and girls and boys) compete as equals in all levels from the beginner classes to the highest levels of competition.

Jumpers: The horse and rider combination must complete a jumping course without incurring any of the following “faults:” lowering the height of the fences, (knocking down a rail), not completing the course within the allowed time, and refusing to jump. Those who complete the course without any faults are invited back for a shorter “jump-off,” where speed is paramount. The fastest horse/rider combination, with the fewest faults, is the winner. Jumpers at the FCHC June Benefit Horse Show are located center stage in the Grand Prix Field.

Hunters: Hunt seat competitions follow the traditions arising from the fox hunt, where beautifully groomed horses are treasured for their impeccable manners and elegant jumping style. Hunters also complete a course with fences; however, in this competition they are judged on the style and technical proficiency of the horse and rider within the constraints of the course design. Fairfield County Hunt Club offers the only horse show in the country that has maintained the tradition of designing an open-gallop, outside course with double jumps to resemble the open fields of a fox hunt.

Equitation: These competitions judge the rider’s position and ability to ride correctly and with effective aids. The rider, rather than the horse, is evaluated. Judging criteria cover the following aspects: the rider’s performance and control of the horse, use of riding aids, proper attire, correct form and usually factor in rider poise and the cleanliness and polish of horse, rider and equipment.

Benefits of Sponsorship

Product Exclusivity

The Horse Show Committee searches for a diverse roster of sponsors on a local, regional and national level. We do not seek other competing organizations unless consent is given. We can offer your organization the opportunity to hold a product-related event before or during the show. Throughout the horse show, space in or around the VIP Tent in close proximity to the competition, events, and shopping can be designated for displaying your product.

Recognition & Hospitality

We are committed to the recognition of our sponsor for their support and loyalty.

- ◆ For designated class sponsorship, we invite the sponsor's representative to present awards and hand out ribbons to the winners of the class.
- ◆ For social events sponsorship, we will work with you to organize an event during the horse show at any of our multiple venues.
- ◆ Exclusive, reserved, ring-side seating is available in the VIP Tent each day to entertain customers and friends.
- ◆ Exclusive reserved seating in the VIP Tent for the EQUUS Foundation Luncheon held in conjunction with the Grand Prix, the culminating event of the show.

On-Site Signage

Sponsors can be represented throughout the horse show. Sponsor's banners can be prominently displayed in the VIP Tent and around the competition areas. An area in the VIP tent can also be designated to display corporate literature. For exclusive signage display, we are offering a handful of facilities title sponsorships, where only your organization's signs will be displayed and the area will be named for your organization for the week.

Media

Your organization's advertisement is published in the Horse Show Official Program, which is distributed to all who attend the show. Your ad is also published in the Prize List, which is distributed in advance to previous and prospective competitors. Sponsors are also recognized in various media. Press releases are submitted to local and regional publications. Sponsors may prepare public service announcements to be announced daily. Sponsors will also be recognized on the FCHC June Benefit Horse Show's webpage, Facebook, Instagram and Twitter account.

Special Events

Sponsors will have an open invitation to social events and activities held prior to and during the five-day show.
